BIOGRAPHY

Kara Rosenthal defends clients across the healthcare industry in high-stakes professional liability and product liability litigation and regulatory review matters. She has extensive experience defending medical negligence, wrongful death cases, credentialing and privileging claims—by both patients and healthcare professionals. Kara also served as national counsel to medical device and pharmaceutical manufacturers to defend against product liability lawsuits. In addition to representing clients, Kara is the Practice Group Manager for the firm's Healthcare Professional Liability group.

Kara defends organizations and individuals in medical malpractice and negligence trials; advises regional and national healthcare systems on macro-litigation strategies; builds litigation strategy to handle nationwide mass torts defense for medical device and pharmaceutical makers; and defends mental and behavioral health providers and long-term care facilities facing catastrophic claims. She also represents healthcare providers in board and professional review inquiries, in which she frequently obtains dismissals and notifications of no action taken.

In addition to her professional and product liability experience for healthcare clients, Kara represents health facilities in claim and reimbursement disputes with patients and agencies, such as the Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services. She also assists clients with Joint Commission and state audit responses and investigations, as well as administrative negligence claims.

Kara serves as Wheeler Trigg O'Donnell's HIPAA Officer. She is well versed in and routinely advises clients on a variety of privacy and privilege issues, including state and federal professional and quality management review protections, HIPAA and HITECH Act regulations, state and federal mental and behavioral health regulations, and general privacy law.

CASES

Featured Wins

- Won an appeal regarding application of the Anti-SLAPP statute to a defamation action brought by a physician against a hospital related to credentialing and required reporting.
- Won a defense jury verdict for a spinal surgeon in a multimillion-dollar medical malpractice lawsuit in Colorado. The patient experienced a complication during surgery that resulted in partial paralysis. WTO lawyers demonstrated that our client was not at fault. Following the two-week trial, jurors delivered a complete defense verdict.

KARA J. ROSENTHAL

- Won a defense decision for a Philadelphia psychiatric hospital in a two-day medical malpractice arbitration involving the death of a patient killed in an auto accident hours after being discharged.
