The firm is named to BTI's “Class Action Leaders 2024” and “Product Liability Litigation Leaders 2024,” alongside firms including Skadden, Kirkland & Ellis, and Gibson Dunn. BTI recognized fewer than 20 firms in each practice area.

“We’re proud that WTO’s clients are so impressed with our service and results that they named us among an elite group of firms to use when the stakes are high and companies need help most,” says WTO Co-Managing Partner Mike Williams.

Clients singled out the firms without prompts or suggested names, BTI said. “Clients are clear as to which firms surfaced to the top,” BTI wrote. BTI highlighted that clients are hiring law firms offering:

- Early assessment no matter how few facts are known
- An aggressive defense while simultaneously pursuing a settlement
- Insights about how other companies in the client’s industry handle similar matters
- Legal project management skills
- Certainty in knowing who will be doing the work
- Skills in anticipating what will come next or arise out of an existing matter

Within the past year, BTI also named WTO to its annual “Most Recommended” list and among the top 50 U.S. firms for client service.

BTI rankings are unique in the industry because no firm can nominate or submit for recognition. Rankings are based exclusively on BTI’s surveys and interviews with in-house leaders.
