Denver - Law Week Colorado featured comments from Wheeler Trigg O'Donnell (WTO) Firm Chair Mike O'Donnell in an article about the Best Law Firms 2024 rankings for Colorado commercial litigation.

The booming nature of WTO's commercial practice is an indicator of the firm's success as a high-stakes nationwide trial and litigation boutique, O'Donnell told Law Week.

"WTO has celebrated several big commercial litigation wins this year," O'Donnell said. "Those successes range from winning a $39 million plaintiff's jury verdict as co-trial counsel for Allergan and Duke University following a patent infringement trial to winning a jury verdict in a $12 million commercial dispute in a two-week trial in Los Angeles Superior Court to winning an arbitration for one of the nation's largest beauty and wellness franchisors."

O'Donnell also told the publication that he sees increasingly large complex commercial matters in the firm's future as clients seek more cost-conscious and trial-ready firms as opposed to high-rate mega firms.
