Won summary judgment for Crestone Peak Resources against Boulder County in a case involving an attempt to invalidate a key oil and gas lease that would have materially impacted Crestone's $900 million investment, thereby clearing a major hurdle to significant future development.

2019

WTO lawyers won a victory for Crestone Peak Resources in a lawsuit brought by Boulder County that challenged several of the company's strategic oil and gas leases, and would have impacted Crestone's $900 million investment in the DJ Basin. WTO won summary judgment on the claims related to two of the leases, and Boulder County voluntarily dismissed all remaining claims involving the other leases. Along with the client and co-counsel Jost Energy Law, WTO developed the arguments that the court reused verbatim when issuing its orders. This victory cleared an important hurdle to significant future development.
