

Won a defense jury verdict for a ski resort in a closely watched, $97 million catastrophic injury case in Vermont.

2024

WTO won a defense verdict in a $97 million catastrophic injury case for a ski resort.

Following a 12-day federal trial in Vermont, a jury entered a defense verdict and found that the defendant resort was not negligent.

The WTO trial team, along with Vermont co-counsel Tom Aicher of Cleary Shahi & Aicher, emphasized their client's strong safety record to overcome steep challenges in securing a significant defense verdict.

The large case involved 29 witnesses at trial, including seven experts.

Related Professionals

Craig R. May
Partner

Habib Nasrullah
Partner

Related Practices

Catastrophic Injury