☎ 303.244.1886

Caley Carlson represents clients in complex civil litigation and appellate matters nationwide. Her practice includes defending companies in catastrophic injury, commercial litigation, product liability, and class action matters.

Prior to joining WTO as an associate, Caley served as a law clerk to the Hon. Maria E. Berkenkotter of the Colorado Supreme Court and is a former WTO summer law clerk. She also served as a legal intern to the Hon. Brian D. Boatright of the Colorado Supreme Court and the Hon. Allison H. Eid of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit, and as a legal extern with the Criminal Appeals Unit of the Colorado Attorney General's Office.

Outside of her practice, Caley is actively involved in the legal community. She serves on the Board of the Asian Pacific American Bar Association of Colorado and co-chairs its Communications Committee. She also mentors law students through Law School Yes We Can and coaches the East High School Constitution Team.

Caley's personal interests include crossfit, soccer, reading mysteries, discovering new restaurants, and exploring with her dog Buddy.
