“I have never come across a better firm than WTO. They are simply the best.”

Whether you are a client looking to win or a lawyer looking to build a fulfilling career, we are different.

We approach matters as business problems, not legal puzzles, revealing practical solutions others miss. We don't waste time on aimless, playbook-driven litigation trench warfare - we identify the key business issues, design a strategy to reach the right outcome, and don't let go until we get there. And our trial experience helps us anticipate early how a case will play out, expose weaknesses in opponents' positions, and achieve favorable resolutions at trial or before.

“They are able to solve problems others have not been able to solve.”

Denver Office

We are easy to work with, too. Our single office, selective hiring, and intensive training foster broad collaboration that spreads the best litigation and client service techniques across the firm. We work well with clients and co-counsel, and never damage reputations or relationships through ego-driven litigation behavior. And our rising lawyers take on significant responsibility early, helping them perform beyond their tenure to the benefit of clients and their own careers.

“The depth of their bench is unparalleled. There is no drop-off in quality when you get to the third or fourth person.”

– Client comment to Chambers

Our core strengths are high-stakes, often industry-shaping commercial disputes, class and mass actions, antitrust, and appellate. We are especially known for trial work and are often brought in to try cases when the stakes are high or the environment is especially challenging.

We are a team of determined litigators with a deep enthusiasm for trials, drawn to the firm by a shared passion for litigation excellence, collegiality, and the Colorado lifestyle. We are doing the work we have always wanted to do –and that drives our relentless commitment to everything we do.

“Incredibly results-oriented...team players...[who] think in a three-dimensional way.”
